CRANBROOK ART MUSEUM IS UNDER CONSTRUCTION AND IT HAS NEVER BEEN A BETTER TIME TO JOIN ARTMEMBERS!

Cranbrook Art Museum is building for the future! In December 2008 we started a construction project that will result in the complete renovation of our landmark 1942 Eliel Saarinen-designed museum, including the installation of climate controls and the addition of a new state-of-the-art Collections Wing. During construction, our galleries will be closed through Spring 2011.

SAARINEN HOUSE REMAINS OPEN

Saarinen House—Eliel Saarinen's 1930 Art Deco masterwork—remains open and we will continue to offer tours of Cranbrook's world-renowned architecture and sculpture, May through October. Docent-guided walk-in tours of Saarinen House depart from Cranbrook Institute of Science, (May 1–October 31) where tickets also may be purchased in advance on tour days. Saarinen House tours remain free for ArtMembers.

ARTOLOGY EXHIBITIONS AT CRANBROOK INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE

While the Art Museum is under construction, we will be presenting a series of pioneering exhibitions in collaboration with Cranbrook Institute of Science. Presented in the Institute's 5,000 square-foot exhibition hall, Artology will also include a series of interventions throughout the Institute. In the spring of 2010, the not-to-be missed annual Graduate Degree Exhibition of Cranbrook Academy of Art will be installed at the Museum of Contemporary Art Detroit (MOCAD).

BECOME A MEMBER!

Far from going dark during construction, we have crafted a series of exhibitions, programs and lectures that are guaranteed to engage our visitors with new and extraordinary opportunities. In fact, the time has never been better to join or renew your membership with ArtMembers@Cranbrook and experience all that Cranbrook Academy of Art and Cranbrook Art Museum have to offer.
